150 BODIES FOUND

In a Tangled Mass in Staircase Leading Up From Lower Vein.

Practically all the bodies of those that perished in the Cherry, Ill., disaster were found Wednesday morning on the staircase at the mouth of the lower level, after being entombed for 12 days. At least 150 bodies were found, leaving about 30 to be accounted for. The bodies were completely blocking the staircase leading from the third to second vein and scattered along the vein where they dropped. Black damp was the cause of death.

Two rude wooden ventilating fans were affixed to the shaft wall and stairway. The men turned these by hand in their efforts to brush back the black damp. One of the dead miners' hands were firmly gripped about the fan. Many dinner pails were found, some of them partly filled.

The bodies were found 500 feet from the main shaft on an elevated surface where the men had retreated before the advancing water and fatal black damp.

Messages scrawled on wood and slate placed the number of dead at 160 or 165. One message read: "We are all here to die together."

To take out the bodies a skiff was lowered to the vein in which the bodies were found and rowed across the four feet of water in the vein to where the bodies lie.

The rescuers who found the bodies said they found them piled up on top of each other in heaps. Some of the men had their heads resting on their folded arms as if asleep. Others were lying against each other and some were sitting against the wall.

On Friday morning the mine was tightly sealed in order to smother the fire if possible. All hope of saving any more inmates alive was thus gone.

His Preference.

Five-year-old Bobbie went visiting with his mother and unexpectedly remaining over night, was obliged to wear his cousin Kate's night-gown. The next morning he said tearfully: "Mamma, before I'll wear a girl's nightgown I'll sleep raw."

Judge—"Prisoner, do you wish to challenge any of the jurymen?" Reilly—"Well, yer honor, I'll fight that black whiskered guy over on the end."

BILLION

In Profits Earned By Standard Oil Since Its Formation.

That the Standard Oil Company has made profits of nearly $600,000,000 in seven years, from 1902 to 1909, is figured out by one of Wall street's statisticians. This year's profit is estimated at $60,000,000. The approximate figures, allowing $80,000,000 for 1909, are $394,202,000. In this time the company has distributed $118,574,300 in dividends.

According to Wall street John D. Rockefeller could build several universities, organize societies to stamp out the "hookworm" and do other things that require the spending of millions from his share in the dividends without touching his fortune from other sources.

Mr. Rockefeller is supposed to own about a third of the Standard Oil stock. On that basis he received $106,198,000 out of the $394,202,000 paid to shareholders in the shape of dividends, or about $6,000,000 more than the capitalization of the company.

For the 17 years since 1892 the net profits of the company are estimated at $1,049,442,064, while the dividends for the same period have amounted to $670,427,300. The surplus, after dividends, amounts to $379,014,764.

Death on Field.

The casualty record for football this season includes 28 deaths and 69 players injured, not including the Thanksgiving day games yet to be accounted. Of the 26 dead, ten were college players, nine were high school players and seven belonged to teams not affiliated with schools. The same ratio applies to the injured. Last year only 13 were recorded as killed in playing the game, and in 1907 there were 104. Eighty-four were injured in 1908 and 122 in 1907.

Indicted for Murder of Captain Rankin.

At Union City, Tenn., indictments were returned against 6 men, charging each of them with the murder of Captain Rankin at Reelfoot Lake. All except Ed. Marshall have already been tried and found guilty. Two were given twenty years in the penitentiary and the others sentenced to life, but their cases were reversed by the Supreme Court and sent back for a new trial.

The boys and girls must be comfortable during the winter. Fix them up at the Louisville Store.

Cost of Canal.

The official estimate of $375,000,000 for the Isthmian canal is generally believed to be most conservative. The late Senator Morgan, of Alabama, never placed the amount less than half a billion. Congressmen generally believe that Col. Goethals in estimating the cost at $375,000,000 has fallen short of his mark.

Representative Burleson, a member of the Appropriation Committee, thinks it will be near $425,000,000. Mr. Burleson said that Congress should not attempt to pursue a rigid policy toward the canal work. "It is not a question of money now," said Mr. Burleson, "the canal is being dug and we should allow the commission all the money it can use."

You will find what you want at the Louisville Store.

ALCOHOL AND ALCOHOLISM

DISCUSSED BY THE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Education of Children as to the Effect of the System.

Alcohol and alcoholism are two of the real and substantial enemies of moral, artistic and commercial progress of the human race, according to the report of the United States delegates to the twelfth International Congress on Alcoholism.

The congress was held last July in London, and twenty-five governments were represented; the delegates of such countries in the general finding that alcohol not only was unnecessary to human life and comfort, but was inimical to both. All twelve delegates from the United States signed the report which condemned the drinking habit as dangerous to public health and morals and subversive of national, moral, commercial and military greatness.

The interest shown in the congress was greater than ever known before, and an invitation from the Queen of Holland to hold the next meeting at The Hague, in conjunction with the peace conference two years hence, was accepted.

AS TO EDUCATING CHILDREN.

The importance of educating children as to the effects of alcohol on the system was emphasized, particularly scientific temperance education in the public schools, as a means of correcting impressions in the public mind about the effects of alcohol taken in small doses. Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, of Milwaukee, Wis., superintendent of the World's and National Christian Temperance Union, an American delegate, urged the necessity of coupling the curricula of normal schools and universities to include such education.

The United States, according to the report, made an unusually good showing in its exhibits. Germany, also was to the fore with a particularly fine collection of colored charts showing the effect of alcohol on the body, the family and upon society. Especially effective, it is said, were the stereotyped slides of the National Temperance League of Great Britain. These stereotyped pictures were largest reproductions of municipal posters that are being used by the City Councils of about 100 British boroughs.

SHOW THE HORRIBLE EXAMPLES.

The posters deal in a popular way with the deleterious effects of alcohol on the human system and are posted by order of the regular officials of towns in which the sale of intoxicants is licensed. This fact, however, does not prevent the officials from warning the public against the use of alcohol.

Following the example of Great Britain, the city and district officials of France and Australia likewise have adopted the "public warning" method of advising the people against indulgence.

The relation of drunkenness to crime was a subject that received much attention at the congress. The Chief Justice of England, Lord Alverstone, announced that in his belief 90 per cent. of the crimes passing under his observation were due to drink.

Judge W. F. Pollard, of St. Louis, Mo., declared that of the cases passed upon by him fully 85 per cent. of those convicted could charge their degradation to the use of alcohol. Lieut. Col. McFarley, of Edinburgh, Scotland, coincided with Judge Pollard as to the per-

FOURTEEN'S PLEDGE PLANS.

Judge Pollard won the support of the delegates from twenty-three countries for the adoption of his plan to suspend sentence in the case of every first offender who is brought into court charged with drunkenness.

This involves such first offenders signing a pledge to abstain for one year. If the probationers fail to live up to their pledge they may be arrested and summarily sentenced. The knowledge that one drunk may mean a prison sentence, Judge Pollard argued, kept many a man straight until he had time to collect himself. The principle was regarded as admirable, and 400 delegates urged its adoption by the various governments of the world.

John W. Skillman Dies at Ridge Old Age of 99.

In the death of John W. Skillman, which occurred November 22 at his home on Cane Ridge, Bourbon county lost her oldest citizen. Mr. Skillman being in his ninety-ninth year. He was born in Bedford county, Va., August 10, 1811. Mr. Skillman was one of the oldest living members of the Christian church at the time of his death, having united with the church in 1826 under the preaching of Elder John T. Johnson. He held his membership in the church at Cane Ridge where Barton W. Stone held a great revival in 1805. His father, Isaac Skillman, came to Bourbon in 1816, settling near North Middleton, and died at the advanced age of 97 years.

Mr. Skillman was entirely blind but had full possession of his mental faculties and as late as Sunday preceded his death was but a few days off at the most. He was thrice married, his first wife being Adeline Henderson, who bore him seven children, four of whom are living: Mr. A. J. Skillman, Mr. John W. Skillman, Jr., Mr. Charles Skillman, and Mrs. John T. McConley, of Cynthiana. His third wife survives him.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Donan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Mt. Sterling.

Most Mt. Sterling people work every day in some strained, unnatural position--standing constantly over a desk--riding on jolting wagons or cars--doing laborious house work; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Donan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Mt. Sterling cures prove it.

H. W. Willoughby, W. Locust St., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "I strained my back in doing some heavy lifting about two years ago and from that time on until I procured Donan's Kidney Pills at F. C. Diersdorf's drug store I was in a miserable condition on account of a hernia in my back. I could scarcely bend over or regain an erect position and I lost one whole season's work on account of this disease. Some times my back ached so severely as to be almost unbearable. I used different remedies but did not find relief until a friend finally recommended Donan's Kidney Pills. By the time I had taken the contents of three or four boxes I was a well man. I have not had the least sign of trouble with my back or kidneys since. I am glad to give a testimonial in favor of such a reliable remedy as Donan's Kidney Pills."

A REAPING.

"The wages of sin is death. Whosoever a man sows that shall also reap; he that sows to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that sows to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting."

See "Receiver Appointed." Some County Boards are expressing confidence in the ability and faithfulness of the Society and are seeking to have the balance due from 1906-1907 pool retained by the Society until the pool of 1909 is made a success.

Of special interest is the article: Alcohol and Alcoholism. Parents should read it to their children. The time will come when the one shall win will be outlawed. Men will wonder why they were ever so thoughtless as to drink anything at all, or saloon.

At Winchester the Judge of Woodmen of the World is regularly meeting on November 12. A resolution has been adopted to have the society's efforts to remove the saloons from the city, and asked its members to use their influence and votes for the protection of wives and children. The election for the entire county is on December 6.

WANTED ONE IN MT. STERLING.

A Lexington news item says: With a charter membership of 100, a branch of the Holy Name Society, which has thousands of members in the eastern cities, was organized in Lexington Sunday at St. Paul's Catholic church. There are several other branches in Kentucky. The prime object of the organization, which is composed of men, is to respect and reverence the name of divinity, and to put a ban on the use of profane language in every way to do charity and building. The meeting was addressed by Father DeWaggoner and Father Delaney. The society will meet monthly.

A reformation of this character is needed in our city. If we miss that there is a law which forbids profane language, especially on the streets. We are not so sure that some men shall be excused for this offense as we are that his heart should be made pure.

Profanity on the street is common, yes common in more ways than one. Men who swear seem to forget that they are making a public exposure of their ill breeding, various nature and sin. A profane Christian should guard against this even as he would against entering a saloon for the purpose of drinking intoxicants. "Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight O God."

If a gentleman or a tough is dwelling for his wife to be guilty of such public reproach, he should not so abuse himself.

FOREWARNED IS FORE-ARMED.

The Democrats of Kentucky had just as well make up their minds that they are up against this proposition: The Republicans are going to nominate Appellate Judge Ed. C. O'Rear for Governor on a platform constructed to catch the temperance vote. The Judge is an avowed temperance advocate and can consistently stand on such a platform. Besides, Judge O'Rear is a very popular man and by his advocacy of the tobacco growers' cause he has made many friends among that class of voters. The people of the State generally know that he is a man of force and ability. Notwithstanding the recent political upheaval it is going to take a mighty good and clean Democrat to beat him, and the party must not make the mistake that any sort of a nomination is equivalent to election. We have got to put our best foot foremost and in order to win we must select such a man as with whom we shall deserve to win.

The editor of the Gazette has no candidate for Governor and no axe to grind. Figuratively, he sits on the watch tower, and taking notes of events and the trend of sentiment, and having nothing but the good of the party at heart and wishing nothing and expecting nothing, he simply desires to issue warning in time that the temperance element of the Democratic party has got to be reckoned with as well as the largest and growing independent vote. It is the sincerest counsel to assert that a Democrat cannot be a prohibitionist. He can be for or against the sale of intoxicants, but he is a Democrat. Back with the party administration of Governor Willard hold up to the horror of the voter and the recklessness that has characterized the Republican mismanagement of public affairs generally, the Democrats will back up walkover for the successor unless they select as a standard bearer a man of broad integrity and capacity, one whom the people believe will give their just and economical management of the State's affairs.

The writer is a friend of the Democratic cause and has become more and more to love with the principles of the party the more he has studied them. His only desire is for Democratic success, and while he will vote for and support any nominee upon whom the wisdom of the party in convention assembled unites, there are growing thousands of voters who will not care so much for regularity if the nominee does not fill in a large measure their idea of what he should be.

The time is past when a Democratic nomination in Kentucky means an election, though it is naturally a Democratic State. In order to win we will have to put up our best men, those of irreproachable character and unquestioned integrity or we will suffer humiliating defeat again. Forewarned is forearmed, Kentucky Evening Gazette, Lexington.

HARDER TO GET.

That a private consumer must buy his beer or liquor directly from a regularly licensed saloon and not from a wholesaler was decided by the Supreme Court of Indiana. The decision was given in appeal from a lower court to test the constitutionality of the Beardsley law, passed by the Legislature of 1907. The court decides the law constitutional.

This decision will somewhat restrict the sale. It would be more effective if Congress would amend the Interstate Commerce laws so as to prevent shipment of liquor from one State to local option territory in another State.

Two Indiana counties last week voted in favor of local option. Manufacturers of liquor should read the handwriting on the wall.

By Circuit Judge Benton to Protect the Interests of Poolers of 1906-07 Tobacco.

AMOUNT INVOLVED MORE THAN $300,000.

Last week at Winchester Circuit Judge Benton in a lengthy decision granted the application of J. E. Galskill and others for a receiver to take charge of the affairs of the Burley Tobacco Society in order that the interests of the poolers of 1906-07 may be protected. The Judge decided that the pool of 1909 was separate and apart from the pool of 1906-07 and that the funds of the 1906-07 pool could not be used to further the pool of 1909 as all growers in the first are not in the latter. He appointed Lee S. Baldwin and Rufus Lisle receivers and fixed their bond at $200,000, which was given.

The company asked for an appeal and was given until December 10 to file a bill of exceptions. The receiver's office will be in Winchester. They are empowered by the court to take charge of all the effects of the company. The amount involved in the receivership is estimated at $300,000 to $500,000.

On Monday they took charge of $301,000 remaining in the pool.

Single Man.

The Stein-Bloch Company

Is the lengthened shadow of Nathan Stein. He lifted the business of making ready-to-wear clothing out of the realm of the booth and bazar and placed it beyond haggle and barter. He made it a matter of friend supplying friend with exquisite garments at a fair price, and today the little label sewn under the collar of every garment is looked for by thousands of men throughout the world, for with it goes the guarantee both of cloth and tailoring, and in the first store of every town or city where dependable goods are sold at reasonable prices STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES may be had.

For years we have sold these matchless clothes—for years we shall continue. The line of Overcoats and Suits this season are beyond comparison. Call and see them.

Citizens Accept--Will Serve On Redistricting Commission.

Governor Wilson of Lexington Wednesday announced that he had secured the last acceptance from the distinguished Republicans and Democrats invited by him to compose a bi-partisan commission to draft an equitable measure redistricting the State into Senatorial and Representative districts, in compliance with the decision of the Court of Appeals two years ago declaring the present legislative districting law unjust and unconstitutional. The commission is now made up as follows:

Max P. Humphrey, Louisville, Chairman, Democrat.
Andrew Cowan, Louisville, Republican.
John K. Hendrick, Paducah, Democrat.
John T. Shelby, Lexington, Republican.
John F. Hager, Ashland, Democrat.
O. H. Waddle, Somerset, Republican.
C. F. McElroy, Bowling Green, Democrat.
I. L. Eiden, Frankfort, Republican.
James D. Black, Barboursville, Democrat.
L. J. Crawford, Newport, Republican.
Two of the Democrats originally named were unable to accept, Jno. R. Allen, of Lexington, and Jere Sullivan, of Richmond. The two places were tendered to Mr. Hendrick of the First district and Mr. Black of the Eleventh district, who signified their willingness to serve.

Ten Thousand Acres Added to Burley Pool.

A scratch Wednesday from Elizabethtown, Ky., says: "At a meeting of Elizabethtown district Burley Tobacco Society, held here today, the counties of Meade, Letcher, Hart, Barren, Boone, Boone, Asher Grayson and Metcalfe were represented. Over 100 delegates were present, and much enthusiasm was expressed. "Bradley Wilson, manager of the pool for the Elizabethtown district, presided. The meeting was addressed by Messrs. Wilson, E. P. Adams, of Covington; A. L. Ferguson, of Georgetown, and G. A. Brooks, secretary of the Burley Society at Lexington. "A committee to visit each county in the district and locate receiving and pricing warehouses was appointed. "Ten thousand acres of tobacco have been pooled in this district and the pool is growing each year. Many towns offered free sites to build receiving houses. "The resolutions expressed unlimited confidence in Clarence LeBus, head of the Burley company, as well as the executive board."

Bids on Contract by Members of Education Board Illegal.

Members of the Board of Education in Kentucky cannot legally accept contracts from the board under the decision of the Court of Appeals Friday in reversing the case of J. Bernstein against the Louisville School Board. Bernstein, as a taxpayer, had sued to prevent the school board from accepting the bid of George Hoertz to erect the Duke Avenue school building at $11,923, after his bid of $9,400 had been rejected. The Appellate Court says that the Circuit Court should have enjoined the school board from paying Hoertz $2,500, the amount between the first bid and the bid given him, and if the money had been paid over to Hoertz, then a judgment for $2,500 should be entered against him.

Prayer in a Megaphone.

A great revival is in progress at the Hill Street Methodist Church in Lexington. On Sunday evening the meeting was for "sinners only." Before the time appointed there was a public service in front of the Court House. The choir leader addressed the people through a megaphone. Then they marched to the Phoenix Hotel where Rev. E. B. Mann, the pastor, prayed through a megaphone that Lexington might become through these meetings as famous for righteousness and religion as it is now notorious for sin.

He contends that he is innocent of the charge.

We take pleasure in directing our readers' attention to the advertisement of the Southern School of Telegraphy, of Newman, Ga., which appears elsewhere in this issue. Burned to Death.

New Ireland Tramway System.
The Dutch government has granted a concession to the Amsterdam & North Holland Tramway Company to build and operate an electric railway system in Holland. The route will be about 14 miles, running from Amsterdam north through Zandvoort, Kromme, from Zandvoort to Westmaas, and from Westmaas to Purmerend. The Holland Development Company of Amsterdam will build the entire system.

Modern Man and Charming.
Many a hard-headed business man will stop to pick up a cast horseshoe or a "lucky" farthing, and is not a bit ashamed of the deed, but pocket them with great satisfaction, commensurate with the London Crown. It is a fact that civilization has not improved as much in relation to our quality beliefs, and chance and accident are collected and interesting curios.

"Mad Parliament."
The name and development was given to the parliament which assembled at Oxford in the year 1258, and broke out into open rebellion against Henry III. The king was deposed, and the government was vested in the hands of 24 councilors, with Simon de Montfort at their head.—New York American.

Fearing the Child.
Do not force a child unduly to practice the piano, lest it acquire a distaste for the study, which both child and parent may bitterly regret in later years, says Woman's Life. It is little short of a crime to compel any form of study in a child even though it happens to have a natural talent for a particular art.

Friends in Need.
What need we have any friends, if we should never have any of them? They were the most precious creatures living, should we never have any for them, and would most resemble a useful instrument hung up in cases that keep their sounds to themselves.—Shakespeare.

Purer Air.
The injury to commerce and the amenities of life, to say nothing as to the lowering of the vitality of the people, would surely justify some combination of bounties and penalties to aid in attaining to a higher standard of purity in the air which we breathe.—Lancel.

New Residence Burned—Loss Larger Than Insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Prewitt are building a new residence on their farm near the site of old Leeburg Church. It is a large two-story frame, with 8 or 10 rooms. Carpenters have been at work on interior, but no furniture had been moved in. The building was entirely destroyed by fire on Monday night. When discovered at 9 o'clock there was no chance to save the building. The supposition is that the start was from a fire left by the carpenters. The insurance is $5,000, carried by H. G. Hoffman, not enough to cover the loss. Many friends will sympathize with them in their disappointment.
